

29 Boys Vie Tomorrow For Soap Box Derby Title

By SCOOP LEWIS
Courier-Times Staff Writer

Jerry Fowler . . . Bill Bings . . . Tommy Bings . . . Art Kresbach . . . Richard Kimme . . . These are names inscribed on the Lower Bucks County Soap Box Derby roll call of champions.

Who will be the 1962 champion?

That's the question 29 boys will be hoping to personally answer tomorrow afternoon when they go down the Hood Boulevard race course in the sixth edition of the Lower Bucks County Soap Box Derby.

When the starter's flag goes up for the first of several heats at approximately 2 p.m., it will signal the beginning of the championship trail for one of the 29 boys between the ages of 11 and 15 years. A trail that will begin with a $500 U.S. Savings Bond and wind up in Akron, Ohio, and a crack at $30,000 in college scholarships in the 25th Silver Anniversary All-American Soap Box Derby.

The Derby, co-sponsored by the Courier-Times and Reedman Chevrolet in cooperation with local service clubs and organizations, is expected to attract three to four thousand Bucks Countians to the Fairless Hills Shopping Center for the gala festivities.

Rain Due to End

Holding the key to the success of the 1962 Derby is that unpredictable gentleman — the weatherman. Having changed his mind a bit from yesterday, the forecast for tomorrow afternoon is partly cloudy with temperatures near 80 degrees. Rain, which is forecast for this afternoon and tonight, is expected to end tomorrow morning.

In the event tomorrow's activity is rained out, the Derby will be re-scheduled for next Sunday, July 8.

Early-Morning Details

Sunny skies did greet Derby officials early this morning as they began putting the course into shape for tomorrow's big event. The Levittown Kiwanis Club, led by Jim Farley, supervised the enormous task of erecting the 12-foot high starting ramp.

Th boys were on hand bright and early too, getting their sleek, fast racers inspected for the big test. Some passed through in a breeze. Others had to make minor adjustments and a few "sweated it out" on the scales as they came close to topping the Derby maximum weight of 250 pounds (combined driver and race car).

Tomorrow morning, the Fairless Hills Fire Company will wash down the track, providing the weatherman doesn't get to it first. Then barricades will be set up along the Hood Boulevard course, lanes will be painted in, fencing will be erected and communications will be installed by the Bell Telephone Company.

Free To Public

Right up to 1 p.m. tomorrow, when the Derby parade is scheduled to march off, the tireless Derby officials will be engaged in ironing out all last-minute details in order to afford spectators the greatest extravaganza yet.

The race is free and all of Lower Bucks is invited to watch one of America's greatest sports

President, Mexico Head Start Talks

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Presidents Kennedy and Adolfo Lopez Mateos arranged to dig deeper today into the thorny problem of Castro Cuba and other hemispheric questions in an atmosphere of goodwill generated by the stirring Kennedy welcome to Mexico.

A late morning meeting between the two Presidents, a continuation of talks begun Friday, was sandwiched in between ceremonies certain to bring out more tens of thousands of cheering Mexicans anxious to see the President and Mrs. Kennedy.

A large force of Mexican police maintained a constant vigil to prevent any possible anti-American or pro-Castro outbursts. Four persons were arrested Friday for trying to pass out anti-American literature, and a group of students led by a man who claimed to be their professor were chased from the vicinity of the U.S. Embassy.

But apart from that there were no outbursts. Any anti-American feeling was drowned in the tremendous welcome given the President Friday on his arrival for a 48-hour visit.

To Witness Signing
At their meeting today, the two Presidents will witness the signing of a $20 million agriculture credit for Mexico, the first big aid loan to Mexico under the Alliance for Progress program.

The 40-year loan, at 4 per cent interest and with a 10-year grace period will go for farm improvements and equipment loans for small Mexican farmers.

Two other issues loomed large in the presidential talks. One was the Colorado River, which has salty water when it reaches Mexico. The other was an old argument over 450 acres of downtown El Paso, Tex.

The United States got the land when the Rio Grande River, which is the border line, shifted early in the century. Mexico wants the land back. A sewage disposal plant and a school are on part of the land. American officials said the Mexican government was extremely insistent that the claim be settled — in Mexico's favor.

Kennedy, showing little or no signs of fatigue after a grueling day, scheduled first today a wreath-laying ceremony at Mexico's Independence Monument.

Celebrates Early Fourth
Next, a visit to a housing project and, after his conference with U. S. Chamber of Commerce and the AFL-CIO both urge President Kennedy to cut taxes to encourage business investment and restore economic growth.

It's about time, we think, that the President consider such a move. It begins to look as though practically every economy in the world is busting at the seams excepting that of the U. S. We better get going again.

Okay, tomorrow's Soap Box Derby Day.

The annual Courier-Times class co-sponsored by the Levittown Junior Chamber of Commerce and Reedman's starts promptly at 2 p.m. on Olds Boulevard, Fairless Hills, preceded by a colorful parade at 1, and if you want to have fun, be there.

Churchill Comfortable After Surgery

LONDON (UPI) — Sir Winston Churchill had a good sleep and spent a "comfortable night" following surgery to mend his fractured thigh bone, Middlesex Hospital announced today.

The news cheered a nation which had paid attention to little else since the 87-year-old warrior, statesman and author fell in his hotel room in Monte Carlo Thursday.

Dr. P. H. Newman, one of the surgeons involved in the operation on the former prime minister, said he was leaving the hospital last night: "The old man is going to be all right."

What happens when a six-year-old boy decides to take a trip to Philadelphia?

If you ask young Joe Hegyi of 11 Venture Lane, Vermilion Hill, Levittown, he'll tell you that you "get on your bicycle and go." Because that's just what he did the other day.

Explosions Break Up Demo Session

A cold political war which developed when a new Democratic Association was formed in Middletown Township became a "heated" one last night when five cherry bombs were thrown at the meeting place of a protesting group.

Around midnight, a meeting was interrupted when the bombs began landing on the home of Mrs. Clara Miller at 25 Cliff Road, Cobalt Ridge, Levittown. The incident lasted about an hour, and was investigated by Patrolmen William Bainger and Carl Alsher of the Middletown Township police.

Israel Will Deport Spy Tomorrow

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI)—Israel met to discuss the legality of a disbandment of the split group in the party, which occurred in June, 1960, and the formation of a new united group. It was reported that "many persons were unhappy with the new organization."

A neighbor woman and a woman at the meeting were reported "hysterical" when the bombing began, and one of the members of the group, Robert Saunders, 58 Crown Road, Cobalt Ridge, reportedly "barely missed getting his eyes burned" from one of the bombs.

Persons at the meeting were members of the John C. Mulligan faction. It was reported as "just a get-together and there was no leader" to discuss the recent revamping of the organization.

"The incident occurred just after midnight," one of the persons at the meeting said. "And previous to the bombing a car was seen cruising by the home at a slow speed. The windows were down and the persons in the car seemed to be looking into the home."

When the first explosion occurred, the party ran outside to investigate, but retreated into the Miller residence when the bombs began to land nearby.

Red Flashes
"The bombs made huge red flashes," a witness said, "and we could feel the concussive effects of the bombs when they landed close by."

There was no immediate information on just how the expulsion would be handled, what means of transportation would be used or what possible countries Soblen could go to.

Soblen fled the United States on Tuesday, the day he was to have surrendered in New York to start serving a life sentence as a spy for the Soviet Union. He forfeited $100,000 bail put up by his wife and friends.

He was arrested in Israel within 24 hours and remanded for 10 days on suspicion of entering the country on a false Canadian passport.

At one point Friday Israeli officials were reported ready to put him on a plane for New York but held off pending further consultations.

Ring Those Bells, 21 Residents Say Woman Gears Life To Sounding Of Carillon

The controversy surrounding Doylestown's bells is currently raging via the U.S. Mails, and it looks as though the pro-bells partisans will carry the day.

Bucks County Clerk Edward L. Pearce reported yesterday that thus far he has received 23 postcards from Doylestown area residents—21 of them in favor of the bells.

The post card poll is the result of a petition presented to the Bucks County Commissioners on Tuesday, signed by 20 members of a "captive audience," protesting the frequency with which the carillon set atop the County Administration Building in Doylestown is used. The carillon peals forth four times an hour, signalling the time. In addition, the musical bells are played twice on Sundays, featuring hymns and old favorite musical selections.

"Highly Distracting"
The 20 petitioners protested "this highly distracting nerve-racking music," and asked to be free of it on Sundays. They also requested that the bells be rung only on the half hour and the hour. As if to rub more salt in the wounds, the commissioners remarked Tuesday that they couldn't hear the bells although working right beneath them.

Reaction to the anti-bell group ranged from the bland to the violent.

One woman wrote: "There will be bells ringing when they (the anti-bells) are in Hell." She also suspects that the anti-bells are either insane or revolutionaries.

"Why don't they join the Communists—the poor, crazy nuts," she suggested.

Life Geared To Bells

Opening Night At The Miss Pennsylvania Pageant

They'll all be back tonight, rooting for Linda in the final night of the beauty pageant. (Courier-Times Photos by John Ligos) start of tonight's program, only time will tell.

Bathing suit honors last night went to Miss Delaware County, Suzanne Pedlow Evans (left), and Miss Montgomery County, Sandra Peterson Doidge. Miss Evans also won the preliminary Group B talent competition.

On TV At 9 p.m.

The finals of the 10th anniversary pageant to pick Pennsylvania's representative in the Miss America contest at Atlantic City will get under way at 8 p.m. Two-and-a-half hours of the pageant which were set up in the auditorium will be televised live by WRCV-TV (Channel 3) from 9 to 11:30 p.m. via four cameras which were set up in the auditorium last night.

Following the presentation of all 18 contestants, the ten semi-finalists will be announced. They will then participate in evening gown, talent and bathing suit competition, after which five finalists will be selected.

From the five finalists the judges will pick the new queen to succeed Lynne Maloney of King of Prussia, 1961 Miss Pennsylvania. To the winner will go a $1,000 scholarship from Pepsi-Cola. The first runnerup will receive a $300 scholarship while the second, third and fourth runnersup will be awarded $250 scholarships.

Preliminary Winners

Talent and bathing suit winners were chosen during last night's three-hour program.

Miss Delaware County, Suzanne Pedlow Evans of Springfield, won both the swim suit and talent contests in Group B. Miss Evans, a blonde, blue-eyed soprano, sang "Love Is Where You Find It."

Miss Montgomery County, Sandra Peterson Doidge, 19, of Oreland, won the swim suit competition among the nine girls in Group A. Miss Doidge attends Pennsylvania State University.

Winner of the talent competition in Group A was Miss Greater Harrisburg, Margaret Mae Zimmerman, 20, of Camp Hill. Singing two selections from the musical, "Brigadoon," Miss Zimmerman received the night's loudest and longest ovation from the audience.

One Of The Favorites

Standing five feet, six inches and weighing 117 pounds, the Harrisburg representative looms as one of the favorites for the coveted Miss Pennsylvania title.

As for Miss Bucks County, unofficial reaction here last night indicated she stands a "better than even chance" to gain the semi-finals. Miss Berlinger, in her beautiful evening gown, presented a picture of regal splendor as she walked across the stage.

She was equally eye-attracting while competing in the swim suit portion of the judging.

Noted Improvement

As for talent, Miss Berlinger's calypso dance to the "Banana Boat Song" showed vast improvement over her rendition in the Miss Bucks County pageant staged last month at Neshaminy High School. In addition to performing the dance with more finesse and gusto, Linda added a bit of Spanish dialogue to her number.

Pleased the most by Linda's performance was a group seated in the auditorium's balcony which included her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Barney Berlinger Sr., her brother Barney Berlinger Jr., and his wife, Valerie and Linda's sister, Gloria.

Bucks Rooters

Also rooting for Linda last night were A. Marilyn Moyer Jr., first vice president of the Lower Bucks County Chamber of Commerce, and his wife, and Mrs. William Henwood, Linda's chaperone in both the Bucks County and Miss Pennsylvania pageants.

Up bright and early today at 8 a.m., Miss Berlinger and the other 17 contestants went through a rehearsal at 9:30, their third since arriving here Thursday morning. With a break for lunch served on location, the girls concluded the rehearsal at 2:30 p.m.

After dinner at the West Chester Elks Home the contestants will be driven to Phillips Memorial Auditorium in classy convertibles for the big finale.

Miss Bucks County's stay here in Chester County will come to a close tomorrow morning after church services.

55 In Miss America Event

The girl crowned Miss Pennsylvania tonight will meet with the pageant executive committee to map preliminary plans for her appearance in the Miss America contest in September. The Keystone State queen will be one of 55 girls competing in Atlantic City.

Official hostess for the Miss Pennsylvania pageant is Jeanne Butler, Miss West Chester of 1962.

Also greeting the contestants last night was Miss Pennsylvania of 1961, Lynne Maloney.

The opening night of the pageant was kept moving in smooth fashion by Bill Hart of WCAU-TV master of ceremonies. Music was provided by Joseph Hanselman and his orchestra. The Chamber of Commerce of Greater West Chester is sponsoring the pageant.

the scene. No one was spotted throwing the bombs.

"We were very frightened," a woman member said. "We weren't sure what the noise was. It sounded like gunfire."

Norvin Nathan, 315 Lakeside Drive, Lakeside, Levittown, one of the members at the meeting, called the incident a "political prank" and an "acid-throwing method" designed to scare people away.

He said the bombing al- most blinded one person, and that the concussion effect felt the same as a hand grenade.

At a meeting last Thursday of Middletown Township Democrats, John T. Welsh and Mulligan factions selected a bi-partisan slate of officers and formed a new township Democratic Association. Welsh attended the meeting and pledged support to the new group, adding that he hoped the "peaceful" settlement indicated a tendency for all county Democrats to join together for an all-out victory in the November election.

Police described a cherry bomb as about the size of a quarter, with a little more powder than an ordinary firecracker. They explode on contact with a solid object.

The cherry bomb comparatively harmless, police said, but it is powerful enough to blow a finger off or injure an eye if a person were hit direct.

Nixon Attacks Central Govt.

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UPI) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, in his first national political appearance since being nominated for governor of California, attacked the Kennedy administration today for "the increasing tendency to centralize power in Washington."

Nixon, defeated for the presidency in 1960 by President Kennedy, launched the attack in a speech at a meeting of about 100 Republican leaders who met to set up an "all Republican conference" to speak for the GOP while the Democrats hold the White House.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower also was scheduled to speak at the conference, which is being held in a big green and white tent on a pasture on the Eisenhower farm.

geared her life to the periodic soundings of the carillon.

She reported to Pearce that the bells, for reasons known best to her, help her to count her money—offer musical accompaniment to household chores ("I can dry six to 12 plates in between taps of the bells) and are a boon in helping her to care for her aged mother ("I would move away if the bells stopped ringing. My mother is 90 and the bells put her to sleep in two minutes.")

Another lady reported that the carillon serves as an aid to education. She said that she is teaching her young children to tell time by the bells.

Anti-Clerical Flavor

Two writers felt that the anti-bell group has an anti-clerical flavor.

"The next thing you know these people will want the churches to stop their bells on Sunday."

The two post cards supporting the anti-bells described the carillon notes as "loud and depressing" and "death tolls."

Other sample comments include: "Decided asset to our town," "Delightful asset," "let's hear 'dem bells," and "why let a few cranks stop them."

Several people not only wanted the bells continued, but wanted more carillon music.

"I wish the would play all day Sunday," said one man.

New Postal Station To Open

Postmaster General J. Edward Day announced that the Post Office Department will improve the postal service for the people of Bristol and surrounding area by establishing a new postal station at 135 Monroe St., Bristol.

The new postal station will have 1,178 square feet of interior area and will provide common use of paved parking area of 12,000 square feet. Under the lease, air conditioning will also be provided in addition to heat, light, water and sewerage service.

Lawrence M. Mulligan, Postmaster at Bristol, stated that this new installation will open Tuesday at 8:30 a.m. and that it will be a classified station operated by career postal personnel. As a result, improved and more convenient postal service will be afforded to the residents, business and industry of Bristol and Edgely.

events where today's champions will become tomorrow's leaders.

Competition tomorrow will be run in a series of elimination heats in two divisions. Class A will include 12 boys between 13-15 years of age. In Class B, 17 boys aged 11 and 12 years, will be racing for top honors.

Winners of each heat will race against each other until winners emerge in each class. The Class A and Class B winners will then vie for the 1962 Lower Bucks County title and the $500 U.S. Savings Bond.

Akron Race August 4

In addition, the Lower Bucks County champion will represent the Courier-Times in the All-American Soap Box Derby at Akron on Saturday, August 4.

Like the national event, all 29 boys entered in tomorrow's race will be champions. Each and every one will receive a plaque. In addition to the top prize of a $500 U.S. Savings Bond and the S.E. Knudsen Trophy, other prizes will be awarded top-ranking finishers tomorrow.

Besides the parade of some 30 marching units, pre-race activities tomorrow will include the Oil Can Derby and the crowning of the first Derby Queen.

Oil Can Derby

Competing for the traditional Oil Can Trophy will be three local police chiefs: Franklin P. Kirby of Falls Township, John R. Stewart of Bristol Township and Howard Shook of Middletown Township. Shook will be seeking his second straight victory in the race which should provide spectators with plenty of thrills and laughs.

Something new in this year's Derby is the selection of a Derby Queen. Contestants will be sisters or girlfriends of boys competing in the Derby. Several young, lovely girls are expected to vie for the honor. Judging will be done by Jim Dillon and Kaye Kennedy, the Courier-Times Senior King and Queen.

Included in tomorrow's starting field of 29 will be John Mager of Bristol who won the Class A title last year but lost out to Richard Kimmel in the 1961 championship classic.

Nemceff Brothers

Two brothers — Billy and Jimmy Nemceff — who bowed to Kimmel in elimination heats last year will be striving again tomorrow to "bring home the bacon."

Levittown leads the entry list with 14 representatives. Other areas represented include Fairless Hills, Bristol, Langhorne, Feasterville, Morrisville, Fallsington, Andalusia, Belmont Hills and Lynne Haven.

Derby Director Nate Price has announced that Robert Topoleski of the Levittown Jaycees will be chief judge for the races, assisted by Jack Bristol, Larry Cochran and Jim Farley.

Banquet Monday Night

Honored guests at the Derby tomorrow will include Kermit L. Johannsen, general superintendent of U.S. Steel's Fairless Works; Ken Terry, general district manager, Chevrolet; Ken Johnson, advertising manager, Reedman Chevrolet, and George G. Gray, editor of the Courier-Times.

All boys participating in tomorrow's race will be guests at the third annual Banquet of Champions to be held Monday night at 7:30 in Landy's Restaurant, Fairless Hills Shopping Center.
